Pain Body

Mental Health and Spiritual Practices from the Indigenous Perspective Workshop Recognition of Pain Body and Techniques to Release Emotions

Six (6) hour workshop Cost: $60.00

Workshop Description:

Meso-American healers believe that we are more than just a physical body and that our emotions and mental states affect our physical health. They utilized the concept of True Occupation to develop self-awareness and promote healing in the mind and body. They knew that our Occupations are different at various stages of our lives. Learn Mindful Attention techniques and how to create a Sacred Space in order to integrate spiritual practices as a way of life.

Objectives

- Learn about the science behind these ancient healing philosophies.
- Learn to recognize our Pain Body and when we are over-identifying with it.
- Learn how to include spiritual practices into your daily activities.

Benefits:

Deep relaxation, stress management, release of endorphins, immune system enhancement, mental clarity, self awareness and expanded consciousness

Recommended Reading: Curandero by Eliseo “Cheo” Torres, Woman Who Glows in The Dark by Elena Avila, Wind in the Blood by Garcia, Sierra, Balam, The Brain that Changes Itself by Norman Doidge MD, The Power of Now by Eckhart Tolle
